students

We are looking for UoN Art and Design students, alumni and lecturers to participate in a research study that aims to understand the patterns of achievement of BAME Art and Design students.

The study will examine and produce data surrounding the attainment, retention, progression and continuation of BAME UoN art and design students and provide recommendations to support and develop teaching and learning in this area.

For further information and to discover how to participate in this study please contact the lead researcher for further information
